TORONTO TIDINGS

Mr. Hector Bayliss, of Hamilton, was in this city to attend the Frat conclave on November 7th, and to meet former friends.

Have you noticed the youthful appearance of Miss Elsie Garden since she fell a victim to the allurements of the bobbed hair craze?

The Daily Globe of November 7th, contained a sketch photograph of our coming new church, now under construction. Although our edifice of worship will not be exactly like the photograph, it will almost be the same, with a few additions or omissions.

Mr. Lewis Ireland, of Acton, was here for the Thanksgiving holidays. Although Acton is thirty-five miles from here, Lewis is down to see us quite often, and finds it very convenient to come and go, thanks to the Toronto and Guelph Radial Railway Service.

Mr. Eddie Fishbein, of London, was down to see old friends here on November 7th, and all were pleased to meet him again. He remained over Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. A. C. Shepherd has gone for a visit to relatives and friends in Detroit, Chicago, Green Bay, Wis., Des Moines, Iowa, and other parts up that way. She may be absent for two or three months. In the mean time, Mr. Shepherd and Bob McPherson are batching it out in great style, chicken stew being a specialty of their eats.

We regret very much to state at time of writing that Mr. Philip Fraser, Sr., is very ill with pleurisy, and was unable to take part in the cornerstone laying of our church. He is always a tower of strength in our church work. We trust he will soon be around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McKenzie and Mr. and Mrs. Eli Corbieri, of Aurora, were in the big crowd at the cornerstone laying and spent Thanksgiving Day with relatives and friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Hathaway and daughter Betty, of London, and Mr. Hathaway's father, of Iona Station, were guests of their cousins at "Mora Glen" over Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Thomas, of Oakville, were with us for the cornerstone laying ceremonies.

We had the company, of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Avarrell, Mrs. Arthur Bowen and son, Roy, of Cookstown over Thanksgiving, they having come to see the cornerstone laying and to visit relatives here.

Mr. Samuel Pugsley, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Shook, motored to Selkirk on November 2d, to attend the funeral of Mr. Pugsley's nephew, Mr. Elmer Pugsley, who died in Grand Rapids, Michigan, on October 31st. The deceased, whose body was brought to Selkirk, Ont., for burial, was formerly a resident of Toronto and was in his 35th year.

We understand that Mr. William Hazlitt has accepted a very good position in Kitchener, where his wife and daughter have since joined him. It is Toronto's loss, but Kitchener's gain.

Mrs. Harry Mason was down from Nobleton for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. Samuel Pugsley has an aunt, who is nearly 92 years of age, and though practically blind, is still hale and hearty.

Mrs. W. H. Baird, of Beaton, was in the city for Thanksgiving, and witnessed the cornerstone laying of our new church on November 9th.

Mr. Robert McMaster, of Warton, visited his mother and other relatives here over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Glad to see Messrs. Thomas Williams and Percy Smith, of Kitchener, in our midst during the Thanksgiving recess.

Mrs. A. Waggoner and Mrs. Norman Gleason, of Hamilton, were guests of friends here over Thanksgiving and witnessed the cornerstone laying.

Taking advantage of the beautiful autumn weather, and the good condition of the country roads, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones, Mr. John C.

Zimmerman, his daughter, Miss Edna, and his father, motored down from Palgrave, on November 9th to witness our cornerstone laying of our new church and spent the rest of the day with relatives here.

Hearty hand shaking, and "How do you do?" greeted Mr. George F. Stewart from all sides, when he came up from Belleville on November 9th, take to part in our cornerstone laying ceremonies.

Only Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mason and Charles A. Elliott were present at the cornerstone laying, who were among the pioneers when our mission was started 44 years ago.

Mr. Joseph Taylor, of Hamilton, made a flying trip to this city on November 7th, to attend the Frat meeting.

The special Thanksgiving offering towards our new church fund amounted to over $300, all told. This includes the collection at the cornerstone laying.

Her many friends everywhere, by whom she is held in high esteem, will be so pleased to hear that Mrs. Charles Lightfoot, mother of the late Willie Lightfoot, and who recently underwent a most crucial operation for goitre removal, is so well again that she never felt so fine in the past forty years as she does now.

Telegrams wishing our cornerstone laying ceremony every success were received from Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Lloyd, of Brantford, and Dr. and Mrs. Forster and Mrs. Ruperia Terrell, of Whitby. Such messages were warmly reciprocated.

On November 8th, Mr. Harper A. Cowan, B.A., a graduate of Gallaudet College at Washington, was the speaker at our Sunday service, and gave a most earnest and eulogistic sermon on God's Defence and Love, declaring that our safe keeping was in God. Mrs. Walter Bell rendered a very beautiful harvest song, mingled with Thanksgiving.

After the cornerstone laying ceremonies were over, those who came in from outside points were entertained to luncheon by the Ladies' Aid Society at 56 Wellesley Street, and otherwise made perfectly at home.

The Board of Trustees, of the Church held a meeting on November 10th, but as many were unaware of the meeting, hardly more than half of the members turned out, and in consequence nothing of importance was transacted.

Mr. Geo. F. Stewart, of the Belleville School staff, brought fraternal greetings from Dr. T. B. Coughlin, and all connected with our Alma Mater. He was given a rousing reception, and his brief address spoke of his love for us, how glad he was to be present on this occasion, and hopes to come when the new church is opened.

It was very disappointing to all that neither William Bridgen nor George and Fred Bridgen were invited to speak at the cornerstone laying as a mark of respect to their much lamented brother and father, whose memory still liveth.

CORNER STONE LAYING.

The corner stone of our new church, known as the Toronto Evangelical Church of the Deaf, was laid with due ceremony and solemnity on November 9th, at high noon by His Honor, Col. Henry Cockshutt, Lieutenant Governor of Ontario. The breeze was fine with a little chilly weather and there was an unusually large turn-out of our friends, both deaf and hearing.

The Rev. A. L. Richards, Moderator of our church, acted as chairman, and Mr. Frank Moore acted as interpreter. The Rev. Ronald McLeod, D.D., opened the proceedings with prayer. Then followed this ancient hymn, which all sang and signed in unison:

The Church's one foundation
In Jesus Christ her Lord,
She is His new creation
By water and the word,
From Heaven He came and sought
her
To be His Holy bride
With His own blood He bought her
And for her life He died.

Elect from every nation
Yet one over all the earth
Her charter of salvation
One Lord, one faith, one birth,

One Holy Name she blesses,
Partakes one holy food,
And to one hope she presses,
With every grace endued.

Mid toil and tribulation
And turmoil of her war,
She waits the consummation
Of peace forevermore.
Till with the vision glorious
Her longing eyes are blest,
And the great church victorious
Shall be the church at rest.

Yet she on earth has union
With God, the Three in One,
And mystic sweet communion
With those whose rest is won.
O happy Ones and holy
Lord give us grace, that we,
Like them, the meek and lowly,
On high may dwell with Thee.

Next came the responsive scripture reading followed by prayer by Mr. J. R. Byrne, Supt. of our church. Short and touching addresses were then delivered by Dr. W. T. Gunn, M.A. and Mr. John T. Shilton, B.A., the former giving a brief history of our church work as he saw it, and Mr. Shilton told of the growth of our mission from a little colony of worshippers strongly entrenched by Mrs. A. W. Mason, and the late Messrs. F. Bridgen and J. D. Nasmith, up to its present large and influential standing. He also voiced the warmest thanks of the deaf members of our church to every one who gave us such help in this big undertaking.

Rev. Dr. W. L. Armstrong, chairman of the Toronto General Presbytery, then brought warm and fraternal greetings from the United Church of Canada. Mr. H. V. Barker announced what contents would be deposited in the stone, and it included several church papers, and the names of the then Board of Trustees and other church officials.

Mr. A. W. Mason, the oldest member of our church, had the high honor of presenting the Lieutenant Governor with the silver trowel, with which His Honor laid the cornerstone in the following words:

"In the name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, we lay the Cornerstone in the foundation of a house to be erected and dedicated to the worship of the one only living and true God, in the proclamation of His Gospel, in the teaching of His Word, to the realization of His Kingdom on earth, this stone is well and truly laid, Amen."

Benediction was then pronounced by Rev. W. E. Baker.

WATERLOO WEE BITS.

Mr. Frank E. Harris, of Toronto, was a guest of the Golds family in Kitchener over the Thanksgiving holidays, and enjoyed their turkey dinner.

The Christmas rush has already started, and to prove it, Mr. John A. Moyuian is not only working ten hours a day, but is working far into the night as well.

The mother of Mrs. Chas. Golds, of Kitchener, and Mr. Watt, of Toronto, has arrived safely at Carlton, Oregon, where she has settled down with her youngest daughter, who was recently married to a promising merchant of that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Absalom Martin had the former's sister and her family up from Elmira for the Thanksgiving holiday.

A birthday party was tendered to Mr. Isaiah Nahrang, at his home in Speedville recently, by a number of his Waterloo county friends, and a pleasant time had they. Besides a feast of his relatives and neighbors, the following deaf were present from Kitchener: Mr. and Mrs. William Hagen and children, Mr. and Mrs. N. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Smith and Miss Margaret Golds and Miss Elizabeth Carter of Guelph.

GENERAL GLEANINGS

Mrs. Adolph Kresin and daughter, Florence, of Port Huron, were in Detroit for five days as guests of the Brown and Behrendt families, and while there attended the big Masquerade party at the G. A. R. Hall. They also visited the Carlton family in Corunna, Mich., and the Erd family and other friends in Flint before returning home the last of October.

Miss Doris Davis and his mother, of St. Johns, Que., were guests of friends in Montreal over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. John Taylor, of Singhampton, was on November 5th a guest at an oyster Supper of Orangemen of his district, and Jack filled himself to the limit in more ways than one.

Miss Lena Yack, who was one of the complainants in a fraud charge against a deaf-mute, named Meyers, in Detroit recently, is a Canadian and well known to a good many of the deaf on this side of the line. We wonder if the defendant, Mr. Meyers, is the same person of that name, who lived in Toronto for a while a couple of years ago, but who suddenly left for parts unknown, when he found he was being shadowed by our minions of the law. We hope full justice will be meted out to the culprit in the above case as a warning.

HERBERT W. ROBERTS.

GALLAUDET HOME, WAPPINGERS FALLS, NEW YORK.

Mrs. Catherine Leary, who left here on the 10th of last June, by Byron, N. Y., to spend the summer with her only sister and brother-in-law, returned here on the 24th of September. She enjoyed herself immensely all the time she was away.

Mrs. Redmond, the well known dressmaker, returned here on the 12th of September, after a five-weeks visit in the metropolis and elsewhere. On the same day, James H. Caton, left here for Scranton, and returned on the 18th of October.

The Home has lost its family doctor. He was Dr. L. C. Wood, of Poughkeepsie, and had been our family doctor for about ten years. He died on the 21st of September. He was a fine gentleman and much liked by all here. He was in his sixty-ninth year.

The chambermaid and waitress left here in September. On the morning of the 1st of October, before breakfast, two young girls, who live in the town of New Hamburg, three miles south of here, near the Hudson, came to take the places of the two domestics who had recently left here. These two maidens are Nellie and Lena Williams, and are sisters.

Mr. Kerstetter arrived here late on the afternoon of the 31st of October and delivered an address in the chapel the following morning, and left for home in the afternoon.

There are approximately about a dozen cats around here. Their number seems to be on the increase. Perhaps these dumb creatures feel that this is their own home, or that they have as much right here as the inmates. John Cunningham, who has been living here for over forty years, feeds these cats with such table scraps as the domestics give him, and when they stand around the dish that contains the food, with heads all down and tails all up, they present a picturesque spectacle.

In the latter part of September, George Bristol went up to Argyle, N. Y., to see his old friends and acquaintances, and returned here on the 2d of October. George is eighty-six. His brother, who is over ninety-seven, is yet hale and hearty.

While in Scranton, James H. Caton says he attended a service at St. Luke's Church, on Wyoming Avenue, where Rev. Smielau frequently preaches. On the occasion of his visit there were two hundred in attendance. Leaving Scranton, Caton went to Crestwood, N. Y., where he remained for three weeks with Mrs. Steinrich and her family. Long ago she was a lady tutor at old Fanwood.

Mrs. Martin Farrel, a niece of Mrs. C. Leary, left Albany, N. Y., at 11 A.M. today, November 15th, and motored all the way down here, a distance of eighty-five miles, to see Mrs. Leary. Had Mrs. Farrel experienced no difficulty in the way of locating this isolated spot, she and her companions might have reached here much earlier than they did. They got here at 4 P.M. All persons experience more or less difficulty in finding the Home.

PITTSBURGH.

Hallowe'en fun in the shape of a Ball Masque, at Walton Hall, corner Liberty and Stanwix, was the chief attraction for the local deaf on the date of the celebration. It was held under the auspices of Division No. 36, N. F. S. D. While the attendance did not quite come up to that of last year, the masques and costumes that featured were of a more interesting variety. Mischief, which inevitably slips into such supposedly refined, though grotesque affairs, was present in this one. In fact, to such an extent that a halt had to be called here and there. Invariably you find a black sheep in a flock, and in this one appeared one too many. Fortunately, however, thanks to the vigilance of the two ever busy frat boys, William McStewart and Sam Rogalsky, unwelcome antics were kept well in check. Some were so cleverly garbed that you could not tell the sex. Such persons had to be handled accordingly, lest embarrassment ensue. Here especially was rough stuff taboo. Also there had to be guarded tongues, to save hurt feelings. The writer himself made a break. Approached by obviously a male in female attire, he made an uncomplimentary remark about his general appearance. When the unmasking was general, he found, to his discomfiture, that he had provoked to concealed resentment was a young woman. Such a remark, if directed at a man, would have been taken differently. But there is an understanding, and the best of feelings exists between the provoker and the provoked, without the aid of an apology. What isn't bound to occur on Hallowe'en any way? To hold such a delicate situation so well in hand, reflects to the committee's credit.

The disguised had an evening of great mirth. Some were ugly, some grotesque, many more or less comic, a few tastily and beautifully designed. The fantastic costumes truly made a wonderful color contrast. The sweet and dainty maidens walked in a variety of colors. There was also a good sprinkling of the "cullud," Walter Wilsinski, unrecognizably blacked, showing most conspicuously. The Oakland Serenaders furnished what we believe was very delightful music, and to the accompaniment of some, the frolickers danced. Refreshments, which were especially fitting for the occasion, were served. Thirty-five dollars in cash prizes were awarded for the most unique, the most clever, and the most comic costumes as follows:—

LADIES—Miss Birdie King, ballet dancer, $5; Miss Rose Barres, Sis Hopkins, $4; Miss Helen Zmerde, clown, $3; Mrs. Charles Reed, safety pins, $2; Mrs. Harold Smith, Diamond girl, $2; Miss Julia Laird, Romper girl, $1; Mrs. Walter Zelski, Gypsy girl, $1.
GENTLEMEN—Walter Wilsinski a negro, $5; Marion Allen, Pirate, $4; Hugh Cosgrove, Domino, $3; Miss Fannie Platt, Negro, $2; Lee Gorsuch, Negro $2; Robert Orr, clown, $1.

The judges were: Mrs. Bessie Davidson Pirtle, Fred Connor, Bernard Teitelbaum and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Meyers, of Jeanette, Pa. There were a good number of others deserving prizes, but it is all in the game, and we must abide by the judges' decision, which in general met with unanimous approval.

Among the out-of-towns attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gillooly and Charles Reese, of Woodlawn, Pa.; John Rosenthal, of Ebensburg; Mr. and Mrs. McManima, of New Brighton; Robert Orr, of Beaver Falls; and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Meyers, of Jeannette, Pa.

The account of the World Series in the last Gallaudet column of the 1909 Detroit-Pittsburgh series. The sentiment among the college boys then as now was the same—4 to 1 against the Pirates. It can well be understood why Washington was the overwhelming favorite. The college is there; but why Detroit? Nine out of ten to spite yours truly. Well, it served them good. A wager was made by which the losers were to parade around the Kendall Green twenty times covering approximately ten miles. A vivid representation of the immortal Hans Wagner, drawn by Prince Hume Le Battiste, a Mt. Airy boy, led the procession, those in the front row taking turns holding up the pole to the top of which the picture was stuck. Before it came to the last lap of the march, buckets of water were poured out of windows on the boys' side, the "cloudburst" drenching nearly half of the humiliated bunch. Among the staunchest Corsair supporters were Walter Bell, Georgia, now of Canada, Bird L. Craven, Oregon, Battiste, Philadelphia, now of Nebraska, to say nothing of Phillip Schroedel, a Pittsburgher. Before the march, the Tiger sympathizers were assembled on the campus for a group photo. This interesting piece is well preserved in the writer's album. Any dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan of a generation ago could recognize at a glance the sketch on the top of the pole. The present Buccaneers have no star standing in a class by himself, strength and skill being so evenly distributed. Don't be surprised if the world's championship stays in Pittsburgh for the next few years. Here you have the most powerful hitting aggregation in the history of the game, every regular, barring the pitcher, of course, being a 300 "mighty wielder."

The "mighty have fallen!" Election day, November 3d, saw the defeat of Hans Wagner for sheriff of Allegheny county by Robert Braun, incumbent. Sentiment among the local deaf favored Wagner heavily. He was beaten 5 to 1, which shows how much it was the other way among the hearing. Wagner can converse freely with fingers, having associated with the deaf a good bit. Braun is an entire stranger, but an experienced capable public servant. It is all right to vote for your friends, especially when you have an axe to grind. But between Braun and Honus, what did the deaf have at stake? Next to nothing. Much as the writer admires the former diamond hero he believes in "every man for his place," and voted accordingly. When a man has been occupied in a certain profession for such a length of time as twenty years or more, his chances of making good in another line are remote. "Mrs. Holliday had a touch of the flu," and had to keep under cover for a few of the waning days of October, which was the coldest October on record in the local weather bureau. If the weather prognosticator's predictions come true, we are in for an Indian summer this late November. We wouldn't say for sure that this is Indian summer, but it is something just as good. That goes for today only.

A literary program and social at Trinity will be the next local entertainment. November 27th is the date. Refreshments will be served by the Ladies' Aid Society.

FRANCIS M. HOLLIDAY.

Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Moore announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Irene Mary Moore, to William Russell Chauncey, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Q. Chauncey, of Arch Street, Johnson City. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, in North Cohocton, N. Y., Saturday, October 31st, by the Rev. Thomas Walker. The bride was attired in a gown of navy blue messaline silk, and she carried a bouquet of carnations and roses. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to the immediate members of the family, covers being placed for ten. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey will live at No. 49 Arch Street, Johnson City.

The bride is a graduate of Rochester School for the Deaf, and the groom of Malone School. The deaf here wish the young couple much happiness and joy throughout their married life.

Judge Injures Throat Sentencing Deaf Man

PHILADELPHIA, November 4.—Municipal Judge Cleary, of Camden, is nursing a sore throat caused by shouting himself hoarse in police court trying to make a deaf, seventy-three-year-old prisoner understand he was receiving a sentence of thirty days in the county prison.

It took some time to accomplish the deed, but when Charles Van Meter, of Delair, finally grasped the import of the judge's shouts he broke down and cried. He told the judge that two pints of liquor found in his car were being taken to his sick wife.—Washington Times.

DETROIT.

The Chicago broadcaster for the JOURNAL evidently got things mixed in his noodle. In his letter, he writes that Mrs. Geo. Morton was entertained by the Detroit representative of the JOURNAL, Mrs. Morton is a graduate of the Michigan school and a classmate of mine. She, of course, only knows my address through the JOURNAL, and naturally called at my house. Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. Morton were friends in Chicago, so there was a happy meeting between them. Mrs. Ryan, of course, took the Chicago lady around to meet her old school and classmates, and they did the entertaining. I write this out of justice to those ladies of Detroit, and also to let the readers know that Mrs. Morton did not have to depend entirely upon us for entertainment here. No offense was caused, nor is meant by this article. I simply desire to be fair to all.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kenny went to their old home in Mississippi, on receipt of a telegram. Upon arriving home Kenny, Sr., was still in the land of the living. He died October 28th, three weeks after his son and daughter-in-law arrived. Mr. and Mrs. Kenny prolonged their sad visit one week longer to see old Southern friends.

Wednesday, November 11th, the charming Mrs. W. W. Mosby made her maiden effort at the D. A. D. She engineered the Armistice Day social. She managed things like a veteran. A big crowd turned out to do justice to the occasion.

November 7th, a social was given at the D. A. D. Mrs. Pearl Gatton was chairman. It being Frig night on that date, many predicted a small attendance. But Mrs. Pearl Gatton bravely took hold of things and made it one of the most successful social affairs of this year.

November 28th, one of the biggest entertainments will take place at the D. A. D. A moving picture show and a vaudeville will be given. On account of the expenses a popular admission price will be made. Members, 35 cents; non-members, 50 cents. Those in charge of the affair are L. Goldstick, Director, and G. Worley, manager.

Eugene Verrette, for four years a resident and Ford worker, left for his old home in Louisiana. He will remain there all winter and then visit California. He resigned his job at Ford's.

Herman Tallent, hailing from Alabama, arrived here from Toledo, where he worked at the Overland plant two years. He has secured work at the Cadillac Motor Co's as a machinist.

The aged mother of Harry Brown will come all the way from Jackson, Mich., to eat Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmon Goth and Miss Emma Ricker motored to Flint October 31st, to attend an entertainment given by the Flint Association of the Deaf. Many other Detroiters also went by Interurban cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaufort Banta, of Indianapolis, Ind., is here as the guest of the Stegners. They also attended a birthday surprise party that deaf friends gave Mr. and Mrs. Stegner. The party was managed by Mrs. Robt McLachlan.

Miss Shans, formerly of Toronto, Ont., stopped with Mr. and Mrs. Heymanson for two days. She is on her way to visit Chicago and her home in Wisconsin.

Donald Andrews and Geo. Trine have secured work at West Allis, Wis., on a dairy farm, owned by Albert Whitcomb.

Robert M. Grant, of Des Moines, Ia., has been working at the H. H. Jones Manufactory for five months.

RYAN.

Sympathy is a thing pleasant to have—laudable to desire. It inspires purpose and sweetens effort; it gladdens the heart that was growing sad with lonely thoughts; it nerves the flagging energies and cheers that overwrought spirit that was nigh to fainting, if not to death. But its voice is a Siren voice.—Joseph Fare.

"He's true to God who's true to man;
Wherever wrong is done
To the humblest and the weakest
Neath the all-beholding sun,
That wrong is also done to us,
And they are slaves most base,
Whose love of right is for themselves,
And not for all the race."

OUR THANK-YOU SONG.

Thanks for happy morning,
When the shadows fly;
Thanks for happy noontime,
With the sun on high;
Thanks for happy evening,
Twinkling stars above,
Thanks for all the happy days—
Every hour we love.

Thanks for radiant springtime—
Morning of the year;
Thanks for glad midsummer—
Noontime hot and clear;
Thanks for autumn's twilight;
Winter's night of rest;
Thanks for all the happy year—
Every season's best.

—Alice E. Allen.

The deaf of Toronto, Province of Ontario, Canada, have just laid the cornerstone, with fitting ceremony, of a church exclusively for the deaf, where they can assemble for religious purposes to receive the word of God, and can gather for social enjoyment and recreation at such times as do not conflict with the sacred mission for which the edifice was erected.

This is a wish realized since the beginning of the religious work by Mr. F. Bridgen more than a quarter of a century ago.

The deaf have been very busy raising funds for the building, and to the perseverance of Mr. John T. Shilton, himself a deaf man, it is said success is due.

The building will cost $65,000, and one half of this amount has been raised by deaf-mutes. The Congregational Missionary Society gives a dollar for every like amount that may be raised, and the contributions secured by the deaf are at present nearly $32,000.

We congratulate our Canadian brethren on the persistence and good work that has achieved this victory.

SUPERINTENDENTS GRUYER of Mt. Airy, Taylor of Lexington Avenue and Gardner of Fanwood, accepted an invitation from Superintendent Pope of New Jersey to meet at his school and discuss topics of general interest in the instruction of the deaf. Opportunity was also offered to visit the classrooms and observe the work of the school. The buildings of the new plant, some of which are already in use and the remaining ones nearing completion, were all inspected, and the plan of the outlay was thoroughly explained by Mr. Pope. The entire day was pleasantly and profitably spent by the visitors.

Gallaudet College

The Y. W. C. A. gave its first public program on Sunday afternoon, November 1st, in chapel. The following numbers were rendered: Prayer, Miss Price, '29; Hymn, "Abide With Me," Miss Nelson, '29; Hymn, "The Recessional," Miss Marino, '29; Talk, Miss Frampton (from the city).

Tuesday morning, the fair members of the Junior Zoology class, to wit, Misses Forsman, McFarland, Gourley and Brookes, received neatly addressed pink letters. Blushing, expectant of finding a request for a date, each opened her missive. Presto! Out crawled a quartette of pretty, fat little angleworms. Miss Forsman, as usual, almost created a scene. She loves animals. (Just another of "Gurk" Krug's pranks.)

When the faculty announced that the college men would be allowed to "tote" their pick of the "fowls" of Fowler Hall to the Catholic University game, better than a score jumped at the opportunity. The group, led by "Cap" Jacobson, backed up our team with lusty rooting throughout the game.

Recently our charming Registrar took a two-weeks vacation. When she returned, the news soon spread that wedding bells had rung. Miss Herrington has become Mrs. Keiser. The students immediately "chipped in" and presented the popular young lady in the president's office with a pretty salad bowl and a wooden spoon and fork, beautifully decorated on the handles with metal work—the product of French artisans.

The principal speaker on the Literary Society's program on Friday was the senior, Robert Fletcher. He delivered an excellent paraphrase of "The Falcon." Next came a debate on the topic: "Resolved, That aircraft would furnish better protection to the United States than the Navy." Owen Study, '29, and William Thompson, P. C. supporting the resolution, bested Ben Warren, '29, and Theodore Brickly, P. C. Rozelle McCall and Joe White took the stage and gave a short act somewhat in this order: Hayseed—Where are you going? City man To Andover to see Jim Skinner's daughter. Hayseed—There's your chance, young man; I got my wife there 50 years ago on the recommendation of the blacksmith. City man—Don't get excited; I have a wife and five children and am on my way to treat Mr. Skinner's sick daughter. Anton Axtman strummed off a merry sign-language version of Yankee Doodle, to which Joe White supplied a drum accompaniment. John Wallace, critic, gave a few well-taken pointers to the speakers, and this concluded the evening's program.

On November 21st, our football players hopped over to the Catholic University stadium. Again they went down in overwhelming defeat, 60-0. The breaks of the game went against us all the time. When we advanced quite close to the Catholics' goal we either had a pass intercepted or lost the ball through a fumble. The University men four times snatched our passes and ran from 35 to 65 yards to touchdowns. A few minutes before the game closed LeRoy Ridings was knocked "cuckoo," and did not get right again until a half hour later. The following men played in the game: Killian, L. E.; E. Johnson, L. T.; Reins, L. G.; Ridings, C.; Young, R. G.; Bumann, R. T.; Scarvie, R. E.; Szopa, Q.; Byouk, R. H.; Mlynarek, L. H.; Rose, F. B. Substitutions: Peterson for Bumann, Knauss for Reins, McBride for Young, Reins for McBride for Ridings, Hirth for Scarvie.

This game was our final one. It brought to an end the gridiron careers of Victor Knauss and John Young, who have fought many a fierce battle under the Buff and Blue banner.

Gallaudet made a unique record in football this season. She lost every game, and each was a bitter pill to swallow. We do not like to lose a game, but when we lose after giving the most dogged fight we are capable of, we are not ashamed. It never is a disgrace to lose to a better team. After our scintillating victories of 1923-24, our manager was showered with requests from the leading colleges of the east for games. Expecting nearly all the players to return in the fall, he arranged a stiff schedule. When fall arrived our star men were gone. Some had been kicked out of college, others had failed in the ordeal of examinations. Coach Hughes faced a momentous task, and though he put into his training all the energy and brains he gave the year before, he could not create a winning combination, for the superior natural ability which made the 1924 team the sensation in these parts was lacking. To the credit of the players it must be mentioned that during the season the morale of the team was excellent. There wasn't a trace of the quitter in the group. They took their medicine without a note of complaint.

FANWOOD.

November 20th was Founder's Day. In the morning, the pupils assembled in the chapel to listen to impressive speeches, given by Principal Gardner, Dr. Fox and Prof. Jones. The speeches were very interesting. Prof. Jones, as a teacher, will reach the mark of a half century this summer.

In the afternoon, a military competition was held between the three Companies of the Battalion. The reviewing officers were Lieutenant Colonel Walter H. Smith, Field Artillery, U. S. A., who acted as Chief Judge of the competition, and his assistant, Captain Clarence Pevers, U. S. A. They came from the Governor's Island Station. The A, B, and C companies, under the command of Cadet Captain Olsen, Cadet Captain Kerwin and Cadet Captain Jacobucci, gave their best exhibition of drill, which was praised by the visitors.

The competitive drill started with Company A, followed by Company B, and Company C. After the drill, Lieutenant Colonel Walter H. Smith made an impressive speech, and said that the victory had been won by Company B, under the command of Cadet Captain Kerwin, his assistants, Cadet Lieutenant Kindel and Cadet First Sergeant Retzker, for the best drill, which was well-ordered and snappy. Company A, was second, and Company C, third.

The Provisional Company, in the famous "silent drill," did very well.

Lieutenant Lux, our physical director, selected five of the best runners for the Fanwood Relay team to compete against the best school teams representing the Lexington A. A., and the St. Joseph Institute A. A., in a One-Mile Relay Race. This event will take place at the 69th Regiment Armory, on the 28th of November. The Relay runners are: Cadet Lieutenant and Band Leader Garrick, the first leg; Cadet Lieutenant Schurman, the second leg; Cadet Drum Major Heintz, the third leg; Cadet Captain Kerwin, the anchor; Cadet First Sergeant Blend, substitute.

The Fanwood Relay team have had hard practice in running and jogging, and their speed seems satisfactory.

About twenty members of the Fanwood Athletic Association will enter in the competitive track events, such as 100 yards Dash and One Mile Run.

Thanksgiving Recess will begin on November 25th, and the pupils will go home till November 30th.

Cadet First Sergeant Blend was called home on account of the death of his father, which occurred on November 18th. The pupils extended their deepest sympathy to him.

Mr. Kermit Seigel, a former pupil at Fanwood School, visited here last Thursday.

Cadet Pat Prevete returned here from St. Luke's Hospital, where his injured hand was operated upon.

Mr. Jacob Gleicher, a Fanwood graduate, came here to see the boys at drill last Friday, the 20th of November.

Cadet Color Sergeant Farber was chosen as a basketball scorer for the Fanwood team.

In the evening of November 21st, Cadet Captain Arne Olsen, Cadet Lieutenant William Schurman and Cadet Musician Charles Terry, paid a visit to Cadet First Sergeant Pierre Blend's home, as his father had passed away. The members of the Margraf Club contributed a pillow of chrysanthemums and carnations.

On the 17th of November, Miss Lyle, who is the new principal at the School for the Deaf, in Portland, Maine, visited our school, and was accompanied by Miss Berry.

November 14th, Cadet Hyman Rubenstein and Mr. Jacob Gleicher, a graduate of the Fanwood School of '25, went to see the basketball game between the Lexington Avenue School for the Deaf and a hearing team, in the Boys' Club, where the members of the Houston Club have meetings. The Lexington School team was defeated by a score of 35 to 15.

The Fanwood basketball team, in a fast and thrilling game won the inaugural game last Saturday afternoon at the Fanwood Court, by easily defeating the Houston Five (graduates of Fanwood) by the score of 30 to 5. Coach Lux sent in the entire second team at the first quarter. They did good passing and team work, holding the graduates to a short score. At the end of the first half, the second team led, the score being 10 to 3. Retzker, Johnson and Port, were the starring aces in that period.

In the third quarter, the first team took part in the game, and their speedy passing and shooting was entirely too much for the visitors, who did not score a field basket till near the end of the game.

The line up:

Houston (5)		Fanwood (30)
Krassner	R.F.	Jacobucci
Jaffre, Capt.	C.	Port
Fox	C.	Retzker
Hicks	R.G.	Johnson
Coopersmith	L.G.	Olsen

Field Goals—Houston, Jaffre 1; Fanwood, Kerwin 2; Port 1; Kostyk 1; Retzker 3; Kahn 2; Johnson 2; Cerniglia 1. Foul Goals—Houston, Krassner 1; Fox 1; Coopersmith 1. Fanwood, Kerwin 2; Port 1; Retzker 1; Cerniglia 2. Referee—Frank L. Lux. Timekeeper—Pat. Prevete. Scorer—Louis Farber. Time of four quarters—ten minutes each.

That evening Fanwood's first team, accompanied by Coach Lux, traveled to the East Side, and lost a hard fought game with the Strong Clark House combination by the count of 16 to 6.

The line up:

Clark House (16)		Fanwood (6)
Sank	R.F.	Kerwin
Mann	L.F.	Kostyk
Unterweiser	C.	Kahn
Freides	R.G.	Cerniglia
Konalick	L.G.	Heintz

Field Goals—Clark House, Mann 2; S. Shafranek 2; Freides 1; Fanwood, Kerwin 1; Kostyk 1. Foul Goals—Clark House, Freides 1; Taffel 1. Fanwood, Cerniglia 2.

Referee—Mr. Roccioopi of Clark House. Timekeepers—C. Klein of N. Y. I. D. and D. Scheffler. Scorer L. Faber and A. Schepps.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION DEAF CONVENTION

1926—WASHINGTON—1926.

THE CONVENTION A NATIONAL EVENT

Do not underestimate the importance of the WASHINGTON Convention. It is not going to be a merely local event, but one of great national significance. Due to the fact that the N. A. D. will meet in Washington, to the prominence of many of its members, and to the unique nature of the Convention, it will arouse the interest of many news syndicates and Press correspondents having headquarters here. In consequence, it will go upon the wires as copy of first importance, and will be featured in the newspapers throughout the land.

Another point that should interest you is that the Convention will be truly national in scope, having delegates from all parts of America, and very likely from foreign lands, as well. Moreover, the Convention will deal with many social and industrial problems affecting the deaf, such, for instance, as the elimination of adverse auto legislation, and thus prove of vast importance to the welfare and advancement of the deaf everywhere.

Every man and woman who is interested in the civic equality, education, and industrial progress of the deaf, should attend the Convention and take an active part in its deliberations. Everyone who believes in the God-given right of the deaf child to a thorough and rational education, and in the equality of the adult deaf with the hearing before the law they are equally taxed to support, should be at the Convention, and sit in one of the front seats.

Robina Tillinghast.

Funeral services for Miss Robina Tillinghast, 47, who died at an early hour Sunday morning at the residence of her brother, Prof. J. A. Tillinghast on Drayton Avenue, will be conducted from the Church of the Advent tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock. Rev. W. H. K. Pendleton officiating. Burial will be made in Oakwood Cemetery.

Miss Tillinghast had been a member of the city school teaching corps since 1917, having had one of the first grades at the Oakland Avenue School during the last few years. She was a successful teacher and beloved by her small pupils. Before coming to Spartanburg, Miss Tillinghast spent most of her mature years as a teacher of the deaf and dumb, having been a member of the faculties of the Institution in North and South Carolina as well as other States.

A native of North Carolina, having been born in Raleigh, Miss Tillinghast was educated in the public schools of that city, later entering St. Mary's School for Girls an Episcopal institution at Raleigh and completing her education at Peabody Normal at Nashville, Tennessee.

Miss Tillinghast was a devoted member of the Episcopal church and was active in the affairs of the women of the Church of the Advent here.

Death came early Sunday morning following an illness of a few hours which only became serious late Saturday.

Two sisters, Miss Mary E. Tillinghast of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. A. B. Tillinghast of St. Petersburg, Florida, will arrive late today and early tomorrow, respectively to attend the funeral. Two brothers, Prof. J. A. Tillinghast of the Converse college faculty and E. S. Tillinghast of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, also survive in addition to Miss Tillinghast's aged father, D. R. Tillinghast, who was at the home when she passed.—Ex.

The Capital City.

The Ladies of Washington held a special meeting Friday evening, November 6th, at the residence of Mrs. John Flood, to further plans for the Bazaar to raise a thousand dollars for the 1926 N. A. D. Convention were discussed. The discussions were "Should each member donate ten dollars, or should the whole group give a Bazaar." The latter was decided upon. The deaf residents here are uniting in an effort to attain the goal, and this meeting had as its special object the stimulation of interest in this matter. The officers were elected at this meeting to rush the work.

The officers are: Mrs. Roy Stewart, President; Mrs. F. Harrison, Vice-President; Mrs. S. Alley, Treasurer; and the committee are Mrs. Marshall, Chairman, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. R. Scott, Mrs. C. Quinley, and Miss Nora Nanney.

The lady committee reported that the Local Committee has only three hundred dollars in the treasury at present. The Convention time is approaching—nine months. Some suggested that each Washington resident (about seventy-five deaf) should donate ten dollars which would swell the fund to one thousand. But some stated that most of them could not afford the cash output. The Washington deaf have no club house and to rent a hall is too dear. The success of the Detroit 1920 Convention was through the goodwill of the Detroit Association of the Deaf and the free use of their hall.

It is likely there are more than seventy-five deaf residents in Washington besides the deaf faculty of the College and Kendall School. I believe it best to pay the ten dollars donation, as they would not have much time to get enough money from socials, etc., as the time is very limited. Then Mrs. Flood brought some unexpected donations. First, she brought out a basket which contained household products and nice things to eat.

Each product was auctioned off. After this, she passed around pieces of folded paper, in which one of them held a dime. The lucky person, who got the dime, gave the dime to the treasurer and in return received a package of ready-made chocolate pudding. Next, she sold chances at ten cents a chance. From these were drawn three prizes, which were two Dutch dolls and a ten cent piece. The total sum taken in was $4.10. The meeting closed with delicious ham sandwiches and hot tea. During the meeting home made candy was served. They all wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Flood for their kind hospitality.

The Twenty-Fifth Silver Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. F. Harrison was gloriously celebrated, at their cozy home on Saturday evening, November 7th. About twenty-five guests attended. Some games were indulged in and prizes given. Mrs. Vernier guessed the correct number of buttons in a box and the writer threaded the needle blindfolded. There was a game invented by Miss Cora Phillips which is called the "lecture without an audience," which was the humorous event of the evening. When one is called, she is blindfolded and asked to give a funny story. When the story starts, all the guests retire to another room, leaving the lecturer to finished the story.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison were remembered with beautiful silver gifts. Among them were an armful of flowers from the Dr. and Mrs. Hall; six sterling teaspoons and sugar spoon from the lady members of the "500" Club; meat fork, Mrs. Cranstons; cake server, Miss Phillips, salt and pepper set, Mr. and Mrs. D. Smoak; meat knife, Mr. and Mrs. Council and Miss Cook; berry spoon, Rev. and Mrs. Bryant; meat fork, Mr. and Mrs. Burton; a set of salt and pepper shakers, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson; sugar shell, Mrs. Vernier and Mrs. Colby. The guests were treated to a wedding festival of four kinds of cakes, ice cream, sweet cider and candy.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison (Margaret Shielder) were married in Muncie, Ind., in 1900, by Prof. H. Demott, now deceased. The Harrisons have two grown-up children. Their many friends wish them good luck.

The Lip-Reading Club headquarters is at 1710 I Street, N. W., and has as its purpose the study and development of the art of lip-reading and is operated for the benefit of the deaf and near deaf. Regular classes in lip-reading are held every Tuesday evening.

Hunter Edington is under the treatment of a physician, having had an accident with his knee.

The writer has had the pleasure of meeting Gerald Ferguson and his charming bride, who was Miss Mary Lou Humphreys. They were married last April.

A Hallowe'en Social was held at the St. Barnabas Mission, October 30. On account of inclement weather only a few attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Hofsteater motored from Alabama to Washington, D. C., some time ago. They took their son along and continued the trip to their old home in Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wood are home now. They spent the summer in Canada.

DETROIT NEWS.

A special meeting was held at the Detroit Association of the Deaf by the Ladies' Auxiliary sometime ago. They voted Miss Violet Colby be made an honorary member of their association, for her many favors and kindness shown them. Miss Colby was the first secretary-treasurer of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Wm. Behrendt is now Honorary Chairman of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

A Cob-Web party is being arranged at the home of a prominent deaf in the near future. Look for an old friend from Washington, D. C.

October the ninth was the birthday of the D. A. D. It was celebrated with a list of speeches.

Old friends in Detroit wish to remember Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas, of Canada, who celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on September 12th. May they live to celebrate their Golden Wedding.

NEWS AND COMMENTS

FACTS ABOUT ATLANTA—Atlanta's folks know the value of play as well as work. Recreation is as essential as it is delightful. The man who does not play, will lose his zest for work. Men and women grow old only when they forget how to play.

Whenever the name Atlanta is heard, people think of Bobby Jones, of Watts Gunn, of Wycoff, of Alexa Stirling, of the Golden Tornado, of the Stormy Petrels, of the Champion Crackers—winners of the 1925 Southern League Pennant, of Bobby Walthour, Young Stribling, and of the countless other national and international champions in indoor and outdoor sports. Atlanta's fifty-four parks are dedicated to the entertainment in wholesome sports and games with every touch of natural beauty provided as a setting for these delightful outdoor occasions.

Piedmont Park, Grant Park, Mezley Park, Jeyner Park, McClatchey Park, Adair Park, Lakewood Park, Candler Park, Oakland City Park, Dargan Park, are among the larger parks of the city.

Atlanta is said to be the golfing hub of Dixie. There are three 18-hole golf courses, all grass green. There are six 9-hole courses, all grass green. Every private course in the city has a club house with all modern conveniences. Atlanta's wonderful climate makes golf an all-year game. Among the well known private golf clubs of the city are: East Lake Country Club, Druid Hills, Ansley Park, Capital City, Ingleside, West End, Forest Hills. The two municipal clubs are Piedmont and James L. Key.

Atlanta's great baseball team plays at Spiller's Field, a modern athletic field with concrete stadium and every convenience. The Grant Field stadium at Georgia Tech is the largest in the South. Oglethorpe University will soon have completed its mammoth stadium. Agnes Scott College has recently opened one of the largest gymnasiums in the South.

Atlanta is first in sports as well as everything else.—Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Bulletin.

News has reached this city through an invitation to the Nadfrat Club, of which she is a member, of the approaching marriage of Miss Jennie Belle Tucker, of Barnett, Ga., and Mr. Pat Kelly, of Griffin, which will take place at the home of the bride in Barnett on Thanksgiving Eve, November 26th. The Nadfrats not being able to attend in a body have done the next best thing by sending a handsome wedding present to the couple.

Jack, the little son of the L. B. Dickersons, met with quite a bad accident recently. While playing around on the floor he placed his hand on a red hot stove and burnt it quite severely. He was alone in the room at the time, his mother having stepped into an adjoining room. She returned just in time to snatch him up and prevent a more serious accident. The doctor was called immediately and dressed the burn, which was very painful to the little fellow. The burn is healing up, and the little boy shuns the fire now. 'Tis a true saying: "A burnt child dreads the fire."

A late issue of the Front Rank, the official organ of the Christian Churches, published at St. Louis, carries a full front page picture of the Deaf Bible Class of Nashville, Tenn., with a brief history of the class. We note several familiar faces in the bunch. The class makes quite a creditable showing.

Mrs. H. A. Watts and mother, Mrs. C. L. Jackson and little son, Harry, will leave for Orlando, Florida, on or about December 10th, to spend the winter there and at Winter Haven, where an apartment has been secured for the season.

The Nadfrats are planning to vote to raise their initiation fee as well as their monthly dues at the next general election in January. An entirely new set of officers is slated for election at this time, as most of the present officers have served the time limit.

Mr. W. T. Brown, of Hopeville, our deaf photographer, is the owner of a very valuable lot, adjoining his home site, which he bought several years ago when real estate was cheap. This lot is now valued at about five times what he paid for it, and he has refused several offers for it lately, that would have enriched him several thousand dollars. He is aiming to keep it and build an apartment or a business house on it some time. Mr. Brown also owns a nice two-story dwelling, with a large yard, garden and orchard surrounding it, in which he makes his home. All his property was bought and paid for out of his earnings as a photographer, and all free of debt. This is pretty good for a deaf man, who started at the bottom of the ladder.

Most of the younger set here are hoarding up all their money with the expectation of going to the Washington N. A. D. convention next year. Already this writer is being besieged on all sides to agree to chaperon the party from here. We don't know at this early date whether we will be able to go ourselves or not. Maybe so, providing that we are still in the land of the living at that time.

A Bridge party will be held at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium early in January, under the auspices of the Nadfrat Club, benefit of their building fund. Mrs. W. E. Goldston, assisted by a group of Nadfrat members, will be in charge of this affair. The price is $2.00 per table, and tickets will be sold to the hearing exclusively, but the affair will be managed entirely by the deaf. Several hundred dollars is expected to be cleared from this affair.

Several of our friends in this city have promised to keep this writer posted as to news and happenings in Atlanta, while we are absent in Florida so we will continue our Dixieland letters, writing from wherever we may be, and will try and make our articles more interesting than formerly, by adding all the news we can pick up about Florida and Floridians while in that State.

Eastern Iowa.

W. E. Criser, generally known as "Dummy," was taken to the country farm west of Kingston Sunday. Mr. Criser has been in falling health for some time and has led a precarious existence for some months. He has resided in the Kidder and Hamilton communities for many years, and is a shoemaker by trade. Being deaf and dumb he was quite generally spoken of as "Dummy."

The above was cut from the Hamiltonian-Advocate of Hamilton, Mo. He was educated at the West Virginia School for the Deaf, and is now about 75 years old. He lived in the Kidder and Hamilton communities for over 45 years, and never was married.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Martin, of Kewanee, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. David Gildersleeve, of Geneseo, Ill., motored to Davenport, Iowa, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Loughran, on Sunday, October 11th last. They enjoyed their visit.

On October 31st last, all mutes of the Tri-Cities had a Hallowe'en party at Mr. and Mrs. Sharrar's home, in Davenport, Ia. There were forty-four at the party, and all enjoyed it immensely. Those from out of Tri-Cities were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Charlet and Peter Foster and John Heavey, of Kewanee, Ill.; Messrs. Geo. Bennett, two Valentine brothers, —Peschal and two others, of Clinton, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Liedberg, of near LaSalle, Ill. All came in automobiles.

Saturday night, October 14th, some mutes, of Davenport, Ia., gathered at Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Osterberg's home for the purpose of discussing the ways and means of raising some fund for the Gallaudet Memorial and also for the Foundation Fund. They got along nicely.

Mr. Ira Ricketts, of Rock Island, Ill., who has worked for several months at the Curtis Sash & Door Co., Clinton, Ia., is working at the Wheel Works Co., in Davenport, Ia., where he gets better pay.

LUTHERAN BAZAAR IN BROOKLYN.

Lest the feasting of Thanksgiving Day impairs your memory, this is to remind you on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening, November 27th and 28th, respectively, in the Parish House of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, 626 Bushwick Avenue, Brooklyn, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Lutheran Mission for the Deaf will hold their Third Annual Bazaar in aid of their building fund. You will find many useful things, suitable for holiday gifts, and should you feel inclined to satisfy the inner man, on Friday evening, a cold supper will be served, and on Saturday, both hot and cold.

Men are born with two eyes, but with one tongue, in order that they should see twice as much as they say.—Colton.

ADVERTISING BAL MASQUE OF MANHATTAN FRATS.

At Odd Fellows' Memorial Building, 301-309 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday evening, November 21st, the Manhattan Frats held their second annual Advertising Bal Masque.

The attendance was fair, over four hundred being there, but only sixteen participated in the contest for the generous prizes offered by the Manhattan organization to personify some concern or advertised article.

Since last year, Odd Fellows Memorial Hall has undergone some improvements, especially in the fine dance floor. As one expressed it, there was more elbow room.

The arrangement Committee of this affair consisted of Julius Seandel (Chairman), John N. Secretary, I. Lovitch (Treasurer), A. C. Bachrach, Charles Sussman, J. Larsen, M. O. Kremen, L. Weinberg, Max Hoffman, M. W. Loew, Leopold Frey and Henry Plapinger.

They performed their duties in a very creditable manner, therefore praise should be given them for the fine evening that was afforded those who attended.

Mr. Samuel Bramson was floor manager, and with the aid of nearly all the members, the space for the dancers was kept clear.

The judges to award the prizes consisted of Messrs. Harry Powell, Harry Pierce Kane and Louis Seandel, the latter being the hearing brother of the Chairman of Arrangements, Julius Seandel.

The name of the person and what they advertised is herewith given, also the amount of the award they received.

First prize ($25.00) to Samuel Jampol, who advertised Klein's Quick Shoe Repairing Emporium, and had a set of tools, and as he walked around the hall he was mending a shoe. He looked a No. 1 shoemaker all right.

Second prize ($15.00) Miss Vera Hoffman, as "Snookum."

Third prize ($10.00) Mrs. M. O. Kremen, "Life Saver."

Fourth prize ($5.00) Norman Magnus, "Aunt Jimima."

Fifth prize ($3.00) Miss Anna Hoffman, "Jello."

Sixth prize ($2.00) Mrs. W. B. Mellis, advertising bulletin.

There were also two additional prizes for admission tickets, to Irving Welner, $5.00; Joseph Zeiss, $2.50.

Mr. Samuel Frankenheim thought it a good thing to raise something for the De l'Epee Statue Fund, so he asked and was given permission to sell 100 tickets at ten cents each. Half of this went to the Fund and the other half to Max Hoffman for having the lucky pasteboard.

It was after midnight ere the affair came to a close, and those who attended certainly had a good time.

The Manhattan Division, No. 87, N. F. S. D. is officered by the following: Charles Schatzkin, President; M. P. Monaeleser, Vice-President; Max M. Lubin, Secretary; W. B. Mellis, Treasurer; Henry Plapinger, Max Miller, J. N. Funk, Trustees; Samuel Frankenheim, Patriarch; Leopold Frey, Director; George Oberbeck, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Among the out-of-town deaf-mutes at the Frat Ball last Saturday were Mrs. H. D. Lee Clark, of Hartford, and Miss Stella Miller, of Bridgeport, Ct., who was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Deegan. Also Mr. and Mrs. Hess, of South Adams, Mass.

ST. ANN'S CHURCH.

Final reports on the Fair held at St. Ann's Church Friday and Saturday, November 6th and 7th, shows a clear profit of $501 and a few cents. Of this sum, $25 was realized on a raffle of the beautiful luncheon set made by Miss Agnes Craig, and about $150 came from the sale of clothing donated to the Fair at various times of the year. Owing to the great number of donations, the expenses of the Fair were small.

Mrs. James B. Gass, the Chairman, deserves much commendation for the success of the affair, as the task of overseeing the work of the various committees has always been a difficult one. Capable assistance was given by many ladies of the W. P. A. S., who were anxious to help and who knew how much depends upon co-operation. The Booths were managed as follows:

Candy Booth... Miss Ethel Schwing Refreshment Booth... Mrs. Ed Rappolt Dinner Booth... Mrs. H. P. Kane Bakery Booth... Mrs. Chas. Bothner Fancy Booth... Miss Hulda Carlson Grab-Bag Booth... Miss Doris Kent Surprise Booth... Mrs. Herbert Libez Rummage Booth... Miss M. L. Barrager

A Harvest Festival Service was held at St. Ann's Church Sunday afternoon, November 22d, the Sunday before Thanksgiving. A good crowd was present to give thanks for God's abundance this year. The altar was decorated with fruits and vegetables, to represent the harvest.

SOCIETY OF DEAF ARTISTS.

The American Society of Deaf Artists and its International Chapter coupled a regular meeting with a welcome home to Mr. Jacques Alexander, who recently came from a tour of France, Germany, Italy and Belgium. Incidental to his travels he acted as delegate to the exhibition of Arts Decoratif at Paris and also at the Foyer des Sourds Muets.

His report of conditions among the deaf in Europe was that they are in France in hard times. This applies to hearing people also, and that the unemployment of after the war time booms has become acute.

The fame and good work the American Society has been doing to assist the deaf in artistic endeavor, and the unselfish unity of the American Society and the International Society has spread to the ends of the earth. Artists in all lines came to Mr. Alexander, wrote to him, even coming long distances to meet him and ask to be admitted into membership.

Among those who have been taken on its roster during the past few months are the following: Messrs. Hugo Merth, Germany; Leon Nouce, France; M. Nunkonsky, Poland; H. Hildegard, Germany; Von Woldake, Germany; F. Oward, France; C. Persand, France; A. Togger, Egypt; V. Furni, Italy.

It was resolved by the Society to have an exhibition of the works of those close by the vicinity of New York, or of the United States, in some convenient location in New York City during the late winter or early spring.

At present the works of Valentine Zubiurre and his brother, Ramon, are on exhibition at the Dusenberger Galleries, 441th Street, a short way East of Sixth Avenue.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fetscher in Richmond Hill, and Mrs. Fetscher did the honors at the table as usual.

BRONX FRATS.

The Bronx Frats had a Beefsteak Dinner on Saturday evening, November 14th, at Arrochar Hall, 96 Richmond Avenue, Arrochar, L. I. Bro. McGovern was chairman, and Bro. Joseph F. Graham was toastmaster. Speeches were made by the following Brothers: Cosgrove, Hitchcock, Friedwald, Hester, H. Goldberg, Stigliabotti, Kirby, A. Fogarty and Di Anno.

The menu consisted of vegetable soup, mashed potatoes, lettuce salad, portion of fine beefsteak, stewed creamed onions, apple, coffee and Italian beverages. Souvenirs were smoking trays.

On Sunday, November 22d, the widow of the late George Pearce, who has been residing with her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Cocks, was so very low that she was not expected to live. Her husband, for a great many years, was postmaster at Jamaica, British West Indies.

Her daughters, Mabel (Mrs. Cocks) and Nora, were at her bedside. She has a son, living in Montreal, Canada, and another daughter, Mrs. Eli Ellis, at Walden, N. Y. They have been notified of their mother's expected demise.

David Marvel, who left New York last January 3d, arrived home aboard the S. S. America on November 17th. With him were his parents who accompanied him to London, Carlsbad, Berlin and various parts of Germany. Marvel's brother, Lawrence, met them at the pier. They were delighted to see Baby Richard. They brought several gifts from London and Germany for the baby, also his dear mother who has been sick for a long time.

Mr. Edward P. Bonvillain, Secretary of the Bronx Division, No. 92, and also a member of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League, was married to Miss Katherine M. Brigantie, on Sunday, November 15th, at St. Mary's Church, Plainfield, N. J. After the ceremony there was a reception, at which many friends and relatives were present. The couple are residing in the Bronx.

On Thursday evening, at the rooms of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League, there was a contest for three turkeys. Charles Van Doren, first prize, 15-pound turkey; Sol Pachter, second prize, 12-pound turkey; third prize, eight year old Willie Lohman, 10-pound turkey.

On Monday, November 23d, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Stein left for Hurleyville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., as Mr. Stein's health has not been of the best for some time.

Nathan Schwartz has again come to New York City, and if he secures a "sit," he intends to remain for good.

In time of temptation be not busy to dispute, but rely upon the conclusion, and throw yourself upon God, and contend not with Him but in prayer.—Jerome Taylor.

OHIO.

News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 993 Franklin Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

NOVEMBER 14, 1925—Columbus Chapter of the Gallaudet College Alumni Association were guests of Miss Cloa G. Lamson, on the evening of November 5th. She makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. George Clum in the northern part of the city. Only four members of the Chapter were absent and not by any fault of theirs. A number of non-members were also present by invitation.

Shortly after eight o'clock, in the absence of the president, Miss Bessie MacGregor, the vice-president, Mrs. A. W. Ohlemacher called the meeting to order, and Secretary Winemiller read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved after slight corrections had been made.

The committee appointed at the meeting for raising Ohio's quota of some $2,000 and for the E. M. Gallaudet Fund, reported that nothing had been done so far as reports had come during the summer that the drive for the $50,000, to have been completed by February 5th, 1926, had been postponed to 1927. The committee had carried on some correspondence in the interest of the project in several sections of the state, where there were Gallaudet boys and girls, but without any appreciable results. The matter was talked over by several members, and it was finally decided to leave the matter to the committee to find ways and means for accomplishing the result sought. Some were of the opinion that the quota for Ohio was too high. Be that as it may, when the proper time comes Ohioans will do their part in honoring the man to whom they owe their higher education.

The president appointed Miss Lamson, Rev. Charles and Mr. Volp, as a committee to arrange for honoring Dr. Gallaudet memory on the anniversary of his birthday, February 5th, 1926.

Miss Ethel Zell then gave the assemblage an account of incidents experienced in her European tour last summer, which was truly interesting and appreciated. Miss Lamson followed with several more, and Mr. Zell wound up with several narrations of the trip in Italy, and views the party had encountered, hotels, railways and food over there, do not afford the conveniences and comforts enjoyed in this good America, and the party was glad to get back to the domain of the Stars and Stripes.

Miss Cloa Lamson, at the last teachers meeting here, spoke of the trip, and this week's Ohio Chronicle contains a write up. It has mostly to do with the International Convention of Teacher of the Deaf held in London, and the schools visited. The American deaf children should feel thankful that they are afforded the fine advantage of securing an education and thus becoming free and Independent when they grow up, instead of being dependent, and looked after by others, the remainder of their lives.

Refreshments of a toothsome kind were later served and after it, the guests departed for their homes, thanking the hostess for entertainment they had enjoyed during the evening.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Zorn Mr. and Mrs. Beckert, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Ohlemacher, Mr. and Mrs. Clum and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Winemiller, Mrs. Ella Zell, Mrs. Dorothy Matthew (Durrant); Misses Cloa Lamson, Ethel Zell, Katherine Toskey, Edena Neal and Rachel Gleason, Mr. Keller, a Swiss gentleman, and Messrs. Lewis LaFountaine, Herman Volp, J. Arnold Philip Holdren, J. B. Showalter, Ernest Zell and A. B. Greener. Mr. R. P. MacGregor and daughter, Bessie, and Mrs. R. P. Thomas were the only absentees, prevented by sickness.

Mr. David Friedman was here several days last week, the guest of friends. He came down from Cleveland by auto. It was his first visit here in about thirteen years.

Mr. Frank C. Kief, who has been taking a course in Linotype machine construction in Chicago, was a caller at the school last week. After graduating here in 1924, he spent a year at Gallaudet. He expects soon to get a position overseeing linotype work.

School was dismissed on the afternoon of Armistice Day and pupils had an opportunity to witness the parade as it passed along the east side of the institution grounds.

Mr. H. L. Weber leaves tomorrow night for Effingham, Illinois, to take a six month's course in photo, engraving in the College of Photography there.

November 21, 1925—Friday, November 13th, has nothing in the way of a hoodoo for Miss Odett Steel, Creston, O., and Clinton Ferris, Akron, O., for they came down together to Columbus and were made one by Rev. C. W. Charles, at his home on Ohio Avenue that day. They left happy as a lark, after the knot was tied. May their union keep them so. The now Mrs. Ferris received her education in the Ohio school, of her husband's we have not been informed.

On November 7th, in Columbus, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kurtzman. Mr. Zay Fisher, of St. Louisville, O., was married to Miss Grace Kurtzman. Rev. O. J. Nease, pastor of the Nazarene Church, performed the ceremony. The couple will for a while make their home with the bride's parents. Both received their schooling here.

Still another wedding: On November 12th, Mr. Charles Kane and Miss Abbie E. Krauss were united in wedlock, by Rev. C.

W. Charles, at the home of the bride's father, Mr. F. H. Krauss, Bellefontaine, O. After December 1st, their home will be at 619 West Broadway Street, Maumee, O. Mrs. Kane is a product of the Michigan School, but has been a resident of Ohio for some years, and is well known to Columbus deaf, where she lived before going to Toledo. Mr. Kane graduated from the Ohio School.

Miss Cloa G. Lamson entertained the Springfield deaf last Saturday, with an account of her European trip last summer. She had a large audience, and it greatly appreciated the talk given them. Dayton and other nearby towns were represented. The Springfield Ladies' Aid Society, under whose auspices the talk was given, reaped $41 and some cents.

Miss Ethel Zell went down to Cincinnati yesterday afternoon, where she will give the deaf a talk of things and incidents seen by her last summer in Europe.

Mr. Alonzo Kingry, aged 72, a resident of Columbus, died last Monday morning, from an internal malady, from which he had suffered for a number of years.

Mr. Kingry had been an employee of the Green Lawn Cemetery for a long time, but was not able to resume his work at the beginning of last Spring. Since then he gradually declined until the end came.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, at the Denton, Donaldson Undertaking Establishment, Rev. C. W. Charles officiating and Miss Olivia interpreting. There were floral tributes from friends and the Columbus Division N. F. S. D. A sash of the National of Order also decorated the body. The pall bearers were Messrs. Schowalter, Beckert, Holycross, Wark, Neuner and Goldsmith.

When the funeral train reached the cemetery grounds the casket was opened to allow the employees take a last look at their late associate, whom all had greatly esteemed for his kindly and friendly nature, and as a further testimony, they banded to Mr. Neuner, one of the pallbearers, a collection of money with which to help pay the expenses incurred during Mr. Kingry's long illness. Mr. Kingry was unmarried and made his home with his brother's family, Mr. Simon Kingry, on Michigan Avenue.

The Advance Society held its November meeting on the evening of 11th. Fourteen members were present. Vice-President Basil Grigsby presided. Mr. C. C. Neuner, who had been sick in one of the city hospitals, showed up, and was heartily greeted. Mrs. Neuner accompanied him.

The Treasurer, Mr. Ohlemacher, announced the balance of each of the three funds:

Society	$145.29
Home	234.59
Auto	224.87

Mr. Charles Miller, of Penn., but employed in the Tinken plant, in Columbus, was admitted as a member.

A small increase of salary was voted John Dillinger, the society's auto caretaker. Stories were related by Messrs. Beckert, Fred Schwartz and Greener.

The hunting season opened Monday in Ohio. Among the many who availed themselves of this sport were Messrs. Wm. Mayer and son, Otto Serdowskis and Sooy Dresbach. They bagged a dozen bunnies, east of Columbus, while Israel Crossen west of the city came home with four.

Upon reaching her seventieth birthday anniversary, November 13th, the two daughters of Mrs. Ella Layfaver Van Doren, of West Carrollton, tendered her a reception, which came as a surprise. Mesdames Snyder, Himelspaugh, Ingraham, Albert, Mundary, France, Rhamy and Stebelton; and Miss Lingle, of Dayton; also Mrs. Hartley, a resident of West Carrollton. Mrs. Van Doren among other gifts was given a bouquet of beautiful flowers. After the serving of light refreshments, the company parted with best wishes for Mrs. Van Doren.

The Cleveland Association for the Deaf has been arranging plans to have a Gallaudet social at St. Agnes' Mission at Corner Avenue and West 48th Street, Saturday evening, December 12th, to commemorate the birth of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet. Refreshments will be served in handy kitchen.

SEATTLE.

The great football game, which took place yesterday, at the University of California stadium between that university and the University of Washington, is the great topic of excitement and congratulation here just now, for our university beat their powerful rival by 7 to 0. The cheers were all over the city, as the returns came in. At the Times board thousands stood and watched the play point by point, and in Meany Hall the Gridograph went through it all before 2000 students, who went wild when news of the final touchdown came in. The cheers and yells were deafening, and the happy crowd sang "Alma Mater," before it dispersed. The deafs have been just as happy as all the other folks.

The Silents, our boys' bowling team in the Commercial League, has been diligently practicing under Captain Frank Kelly for a long time past. They have pleasant new quarters in a spacious basement on Fourth Avenue. Last Friday night the first match games were played, the Silents playing against the Mapleins, and winning two games out of three. Captain Kelly is very hopeful of a good season.

William Henrich is a very valuable and welcome addition to the Silents, replacing Sam Schneider. The father-in-law of Mr. Henrich purchased ten acres of land at Bothell, and William is helping to clear it and sell the wood.

At the P. S. A. D. meeting Mr. Wright gave an account of his recent auto trip to Los Angeles, and reported how he found our various ex-Seattlites, who are now living there.

Sam Schneider is now in the Riverton Hospital. There is little hope that the doctors will ever discharge him from there, as his left lung is almost gone.

John Overbye was struck by an auto near Snoqualmie recently, when walking in the fog, and quite badly bruised and shaken up.

Mr. Edwin Johnson left recently for Portland. During his residence in Seattle he has been a large part of the time out of work. We hope he will have better luck in Portland, or in California, where we understand he expects to go.

Mrs. Vevah Mackey is visiting at Bellingham a couple of weeks with Miss Edna Wilson.

Today Mrs. John Bodley went to the Seattle General Hospital for an operation to remove a silver plate from her hip. This plate was put in years ago when her hip was broken in an accident, and one of the screws has become loose and is causing a great deal of trouble. The hip bone has mended finely and the doctors expect her to be in good shape after the removal of the plate. She expects to be home in a week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brinkman arrived in Seattle the first of the month after spending a month at Wenatchee. John is expecting to build immediately a small home on his Bothell acres.

Carl Garrison and Oscar Anderson are now boarding with Mrs. Sallie Clark. She has two other boarders, and expects to move into a larger house.

The Lutheran Bazaar will be held in the basement of their Church, on November 21st.

A party for the benefit of Sam Schneider, to raise funds for part payment of hospital bills, will be given by the P. S. A. D., at the Bertram home on November 28th.

At the football game at the stadium here, on November 7th, between the University and Stanford, which we won by a score of 13 to 0, the following deafs were present to help root for the home team; Messrs. Sanders, Wilson, Holcome, Kelly, Bertram, Coic, of Aberdeen, and the Hansons.

Dr. Hanson held a service at Trinity Church, Tacoma, the afternoon of November 8th. He and Mrs. Hanson reached Tacoma the forenoon, and took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Burgett. After the service, hearing that Mr. Maurice Miller was not well, as many as possible crowded into the car of James Lowell and went to visit him. We found him looking fairly chipper, and his wife and two little ones away at the movies. We stayed a short time, and admired his cosy and pretty home of four rooms and bath, built entirely by himself, and furnished with good taste. Maurice has also built another house, which he rents, putting up both from his steady wages in a wood-working factory. Those who visited him were: Mr. and Mrs. Key, Mrs. Seeley, Mr. Lowell, and the Hansons.

Mr. Holger Jensen is the proud daddy of a son, born October 2d. He announced his good fortune to his friends at the October Frat meeting.

Harold Harris is now back from the Snoqualmie mill, and looking for a job in Seattle.

Alex McDonald, Jr., a freshman at the University of Washington this year, is a son of Alex McDonald, of the Vancouver School, instructor of carpentry, and in charge of the repair work.

The annual New Year's party of the Frats will be held this year at Plymouth Hall, at 6th Avenue and Seneca Street.

Mr. Stuart Grant, who came here recently from Nova Scotia, left last week for California, in his Rollin car. He works in the woods, felling trees, and makes good wages. He impressed all with whom he came in contact as a fine intelligent young man. Shortly before leaving Seattle he happened to strike a young woman with his car. He promptly took her to a hospital, and although she was only slightly bruised he insisted on paying her $100.00 for the damage sustained.

Mr. C. K. McConnell was struck by an auto and slight bruised, but not seriously injured.

Mr. Clifford E. Devereux, of Yakima, was married October 13th, to a south Dakota girl, Miss Cleora Wallbrink.

THE HANSONS.

November 15, 1925.

Frederick, Md.

Mrs. Caroline Stubbs, widow of the late Mr. James C. Stubbs, passed away on November 13th, having lived to a ripe old age—eighty-five years and three months. Since January, she had made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Faupel and from whose residence the funeral took place Sunday afternoon. The Rev. D. E. Moylan, assisted by Prof. BJORLE, officiated. Mrs. Stubbs is of pure Irish stock, she having been born in Ireland, August 12th, 1840. The family emigrated to America and settled in Philadelphia. Twelve year old Caroline Henry entered the old Broad and Pine Streets School in 1852. She married Mr. Stubbs, a native of England, and then a resident of Philadelphia. Mr. Stubbs was for fifteen years a teacher of cabinet making at the State School for the Deaf.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benson are to be congratulated for giving to the deaf teaching profession two fine young daughters—Misses Mary and Elizabeth. Both took a full course at the State Normal School at Towson, and later taught in the public schools of Frederick County. Miss Mary Benson is rated as a valued teacher in the American School for the Deaf (Hartford) and Miss Elizabeth Benson is now pursuing a normal course at Gallaudet. She also teaches mathematics to the young ladies of the Preparatory Class at the College. There can be no doubt but that these young ladies will make their mark in the profession.

There was rejoicing among the deaf of Frederick back in September, when they found in their midst Mr. August Wriede, who has come from New York in response to a telegram from the Citizen manager offering him a position. Mr. Wriede always held a warm spot in his heart for Frederick and he has come expecting to hold down a permanent position.

But the rejoicing was short lived for he gave up his job and went to live in Baltimore. That was on November 3rd. We regretted to see him leave.

The School's new shop-gymnasium, which had been in course of erection during the summer and this fall is nearing completion. When finished and fully equipped we will be the proud possessors of as fine a building of its type as could be erected anywhere. The builders are rushing work on the shop story rooms, so that machinery in the School building where trades instruction is continued, but in cramped quarters, will be moved in December. In January the fine new spacious gymnasium on second floor will be ready for the first basketball game to be played there.

As in years past, the school received an invitation to take part in the monster Armistice Day parade, held November 11th, in the city. The Cadet Battalion did itself proud in the parade, marching along in perfect formation with real Army guns. The judges awarded it the second prize of $7.50, which money will be used in buying a silk American flag.

Scoutmaster Mr. McVernon started the year for the School Troop No. 8 in a way that promises much for the Boy Scouts. The boys are very enthusiastic. The first hike of the season was taken on November 7th to the country beyond Yellow Springs with White Rock as the objective point. The noon meal having been prepared over the fire in Indian fashion and partaken of, the ascent to White Rock was started, but the rain came, and so they beat it for Frederick and home.

Rev. D. E. Moylan spent the weekend of November 14th as the guest of the School. Sunday morning he held services at the Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church for the adult deaf of the city. Over a score of pupils of the school attended the services.

Messrs. H. Kemp, H. Benson, and Faupel, spent part of the afternoon of November 1st in Hagerstown, the trip having been taken in Mr. Kemp's Dodge car, to view the great Sunday School parade there.

Miss Kate Sarges had a sale of her personal property, at Boonsboro, on October 24th. A week later, after winding up her affairs, she left the little mountain town, where she had made her home for upward of of 60 years, and went to live with Mr. and Mrs. Trundle at Centreville. Mrs. Trundle and Miss Sarges were Barracks school-day chums, and their warm friendship formed in youth has continued unbroken to this day.

Mrs. Harry R. Kemp spent nearly two weeks recently in Baltimore, visiting at the home of her brother and other relatives on the Eastern shore. In her absence, her daughter Mary kept house.

Mr. and Mrs. Faupel have joined the ranks of deaf home owners. Moving in the new brick cottage erected the past summer was effected October 3d. Every Sunday evening sees a social gathering of deaf in the large living room, which can comfortably seat a score of persons.

Mr. Howard Hood, of Mt. Airy, is a regular Sunday visitor in the city. He owns a shoe-repairing establishment, and so prosperous is he that he contemplates buying a house and choosing a life partner from among the fair sex to share it with him.

Coach Benson, assisted by Mr. McVernon, is hard at work whipping the School basketball team into shape for the opening, which will be played on December 4th with Blue Ridge College on the latter's floor.

Prospects of a successful season are bright, as mainstays of last year are still in school. Very likely a Baltimore team, composed of the School alumni, will have the honor of playing the first game in the gymnasium with the local team.

Miss Elizabeth Moss, of Baltimore, will lecture before the Ely Literary Society at the School, on her recent European tour, on the 5th of December.

Gone to Rest

Mr. Philip Fraser, well known and idolized by thousands of the deaf everywhere, passed to the beyond.

Down in a humble grave, alongside the grave of his late wife, who preceded him over twenty-two years ago, and also by the graves of two of his children, who died years ago, and within view of many stately monuments and commodious mausoleums, belonging to many Toronto millionaires in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, lie what remains mortal of a great and true Christian man, the late Mr. Philip Fraser, while left behind are his sorrowing relatives and friends beyond count. Only yesterday he was exuding his customary smiles in our midst, today he is smiling in the face of his Master, whom he so long and faithfully served. By his death one of the greatest and most beloved Christian workers for the uplift of his fellow deaf ceases to be. His death has removed a great beacon light from our midst. Another faithful follower of and earnest worker for the Lamb of God has gone from this life forever. The late Mr. Fraser was one of the most outstanding figures of the Canadian deaf world. A servant of great value both to his Master and to humanity, and the Deaf will sorely miss him both socially and morally. He was always obliging, forgiving, and attentive to the smallest want. Here is a brief write up of his brief illness and death and of his distinguished career. On October 24th he in company with Mr. George Wedderburn motored to and King on business, but on returning caught a chill, but he did not feel its effects very badly until a week, when it began to set in earnest, forcing him to take to bed three days before our cornerstone laying on November 9th. He was very anxious to see the cornerstone laid, his physician forbade him. Weaker and weaker he grew as days passed, and his illness developed into double pneumonia. At 9:10 on Saturday morning, November 14th, he finally yielded to the Great Reaper, answered the boatman's call, and left to dwell forever on the other shore. The news of his death spread with great rapidity throughout the land, casting a deep gloom in its wake. The late Philip Fraser was born on August 7th, 1863, in Woodstock, Ont., and pushed his way, in spite of many obstacles, from a humble beginning to the highest pinnacle in the gift of the Canadian deaf. He spent eight years at the Belleville School for the Deaf, and while there learned the shoe making trade. Shortly after graduating from school he moved to Toronto, where he has resided ever since. In 1887 he married Miss Carrie J. Johnson, and by this union seven children were born, two dying in infancy. The others are Isabel, now Mrs. John T. Shilton, Mrs. Lillian and Miss Grace Fraser, and Helen, now Mrs. Alfred Smith, and one son, Philip, Jr. He also leaves four brothers and sisters—namely, G. A. Fraser, of Stewart, B. C.; W. A. Fraser, of New York; J. B. Fraser, of Hamilton; T. J. Fraser, of Cleveland, O.; Mrs. David Watt, of Birtle, Man.; Mrs. John R. Byrne, of this city; Mrs. W. P. Robinson also of Toronto and Mrs. Norman McNeil, of New York. All of whom, except George, in British Columbia and Mrs. Watt, of Manitoba, attended his funeral. The deceased was president of the Ontario Association of the Deaf several times, and also held many other important offices of trust, including the superintendency of the Toronto Evangelical Church of the Deaf for several years. He was one of the pioneer teachers of the deaf in Toronto, in their religious pursuits, and in conjunction with Messrs. A. W. Mason, J. D. Nasmith, F. Bridgen, and J. Beale, founded the Toronto Mission to the Deaf over forty years ago. All have since gone to their reward except Mr. Mason, and now brother Fraser goes home to tell them that the work they started so long ago is still going on.

There was a private service at the house on Church Street, where the public service took place at the Bible Training College, at 2 P.M., on November 16th. This was jointly conducted by Rev. Dr. Gunn, Rev. Dr. Richard and Rev. Dr. McNeil, all of whom paid the highest tribute to the sterling qualities and Christian character of the deceased. Mrs. Ernest Peterkin interpreted most graciously at the college, while Mr. F. Moore acted in the same capacity at the grave. The funeral was very largely attended, and the casket was literally covered with beautiful wreaths from far and near. The pallbearers were: Messrs

Greensburg, Pa.

It is our sad duty to chronicle the untimely death of one of our silent friends in the person of Philip T. Gettins, of Haydenville.

On Wednesday night, November 11th (Armistice Day), Mr. Gettins was almost instantly killed, when he was struck by a shifter in the Hempfield Branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, not far from the Westmoreland County Home. He was terribly mangled beyond recognition. He was picked up and taken to Cosher's morgue in an ambulance, where he was prepared for burial. He was then taken to the home of his married sister in Youngwood, Friday evening, the 13th. Funeral services over his remains were held with two ministers of two different churches, Methodist Episcopal and Reformed, on Saturday, at 2 o'clock. The services were of an impressive, but sad character. The funeral was one of the largest ever attended in Youngwood. There was a variety of lovely autumn flowers, which surrounded the beautiful dark gray broadcloth casket of the deceased.

Among those who attended the funeral were: Mrs. James G. Pool, of Hunker; Mrs. John F. V. Long and Mrs. John Collins, of Youngwood; Mrs. Fred Haly, of Jeannette; Mrs. Harry O. Fox, of Greensburg; and Mrs. John B. Smith, of Mt. Pleasant.

Messrs. J. F. V. Long, Russell Diehl, James Prinler, and Frank Widaman and two hearing gentlemen, acted as pall-bearers for their late friend. The funeral trip was made to Irwin, where interment was made in the Union Cemetery, which is truly a handsome place.

Mr. Gettins leaves a widow and two children to mourn his sudden taking off. He was in the fiftieth year of his age. He was widely known in the community in which he had resided. He was educated at the Edgewood School for the Deaf, but did not complete his school course, as he had to support his aged mother. He had, for almost twenty-four years, been employed as check boss in the office of the Keystone Coal & Coke Company, south of Greensburg, and was doubtless a most worthy employee. It is known that his company will find it hard to secure another man to take charge of the place made vacant by the untimely death of Mr. Gettins.

Deceased was born in Paintertown, a mile north of Irwin, October 26th, 1875. Early in life, he left the Edgewood School. He was employed in the tipple of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, Irwin, for several years, but was often laid off on account of the slackness of orders. His mother decided to move Greengrub about twenty years ago, where he accepted a similar job in the Keystone Coal Company, which he has ever held, much to the satisfaction of his company. Your scribe had known Philip in boyhood, and always found in him a warm personal companion as well as a jolly good fellow. The deceased went beyond a question be sadly missed in deaf circles. We take occasion to extend to his family our most heartfelt sympathy on their irreparable loss.

Rev. C. Frank Smielau, of Selins Grove, recently held an interesting religious service at Christ Church. At the conclusion of the service, he talked to his silent flock concerning the purposes of the P. S. A. D. and the good it has been accomplished. Well, imagine his surprise, when he acquired fourteen new members for the P. S. A. D., emphatically declaring that the membership was a hundred per cent affair. We are inclined to think that Rev. Mr. Smielau as a hustling president of that organization, is working hard for the needs of the Home for Infirm and Aged People. We have to doff our hats to our hustling president. We have often heard good reports of the new Home, being beautifully located in Torresdale along the Delaware River.

P. Eller, hailing from Salem, W. Va., put in an appearance in town selling Kimo mitten dusters. We are told that he has been in Jeannette for the space of two months in the capacity of Kimo products distributor. We understand that he is a product of the Romney (W.Va.) Institution for the Deaf.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Russell Diehl, of city, and John B. Smith, of Mt. Pleasant, participated in a Grand Masquerade Dance held by the members of the Pittsburgh Division, No. 26, N. F. S. D., in that city, Halloween night. They all report having had quite an enjoyable time.

Felix S. Hogenmiller, of Jeannette, says that he spent a most delightful vacation of three months at the farm of his brother, Louis, in the vicinity of Cambridge Springs, and likewise that farm life fully agreed with his health. He, too, thinks that he will in the near future will have to relinquish the trade of tailoring, to go back to the farm for the benefit of his health. Well, if he decides to leave Jeannette we will miss him.

Let the Pittsburgh correspondent and your reporter shake hands with each other heartily, about the great victory the Pittsburgh champions won over the Washington American League in the World's series. Needless to state that there was great rejoicing among our silent people here in consequence.

Mrs. Julia Collins entertained a few of her friends at a dinner at her cosy cottage in Foxdale, November 8th.

Coming along Main Street, ye local happened to an old friend of his own from Harrisburg, whom he met at the State Capitol building last summer. They both had a brief though delightful chat together. The gentleman in question spent a term visiting friends here.

The writer's sister attended the annual State Conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Philadelphia. She was one of the delegates there and reported enjoying herself to the utmost.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haley, of Jeannette, not long since, attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary of an aged couple in Bouquet, and had a fine time.

Everybody is helped—everybody should help!

TUBERCULOSIS in this country is a threat against your health and that of your family. There are more than a million cases in this country today.

The germs from a single case of tuberculosis can infect whole families. No one is immune. The only sure escape is to stamp out the dread disease entirely. It can be stamped out. The organized work of the tuberculosis crusade has already cut the tuberculosis death rate in half. This work is financed by the sale of Christmas Seals.

Everybody is helped by this great work—and everybody should help in it. Let every member of your family stamp all Christmas parcels, letters and greeting cards with these able little warriors against disease. Everybody everywhere, buy Christmas Seals—and buy as many as you can.
